

"MPW have been executive members of the Applied Client Network for many years. The membership has enabled us to build relationships with other TAM users that have been invaluable. The ability to share knowledge and experiences with other members is worth the membership alone.

The education forum events provide excellent and topical sessions, as well as an insight into future Applied products coming to the market. You will leave with a whole load of ideas that you can introduce to your business.

MPW would highly recommend becoming an Executive Member."

"We have been members of Applied Client Network (formerly Teamone) for over 17 years. During that time not only have we benefited from attending the UK educational seminars and group training sessions, perhaps more importantly we've had access to and worked with vastly experienced TAM users not only in the UK, but throughout Canada and USA via the global Applied User Group. What this wider support provides is a platform to talk to other users and industry experts about areas affecting our day to day business, as well as the TAM system.

With the user group training sessions, regardless of the number of years of using TAM, whenever I or one of our team attend one of the training sessions, we always come away having learnt something whether it be from the trainer, or from discussions with other attendees/users."

Innovating the business of Insurance together

Applied Client Network UK is a member only organisation of insurance professionals that are focused on driving system utilisation of Applied Systems products and platforms to increase their usability, optimise their effectiveness and, positively impact on the profitability and success of their business. Our network is made up of brokers using Applied Systems software solutions. We provide our member network with education, support, networking opportunities and direct product influence with Applied Systems to help users achieve better business results.

Vision

Applied Client Network is committed to leading insurance business practices through education and advocacy. In adhering to this goal, we drive system utilisation to increase broker value. This is achieved by a dedication to membership growth, and enhanced educational offerings to meet our members diverse needs and maintaining support and guidance.

Our UK Organisation

Applied Client Network UK is an independent organisation, but we have a strong partnership with Applied Systems. Our strength is that we can act as a collective and powerful voice for our membership and influence product development and support local issues. Our UK organisation is managed by a board of volunteers, from a variety of brokerages. They all have knowledge of Applied Systems products and work in the insurance industry so have hands-on experience of the challenges that brokers face.

Education

Providing education for our membership is one of our key goals. We help to facilitate training on a variety of issues including specific software applications as well as broader insights into the insurance industry such as compliance and regulations. Training is delivered via classroom sessions, forums and webinars and we poll our members for input on their training requirements.

Networking

We hold meetings across the UK on a regular basis including training events, education forums and an annual conference. These are great opportunities for brokers to get together, learn from each other and for the board to get a "pulse" on any industry issues and actively use this information to drive new initiatives for members. We also host regular and ad hoc forums for our members, who have similar roles in brokerages, to share best practices and brainstorm ideas, so that our shared knowledge can help drive our businesses forward.
